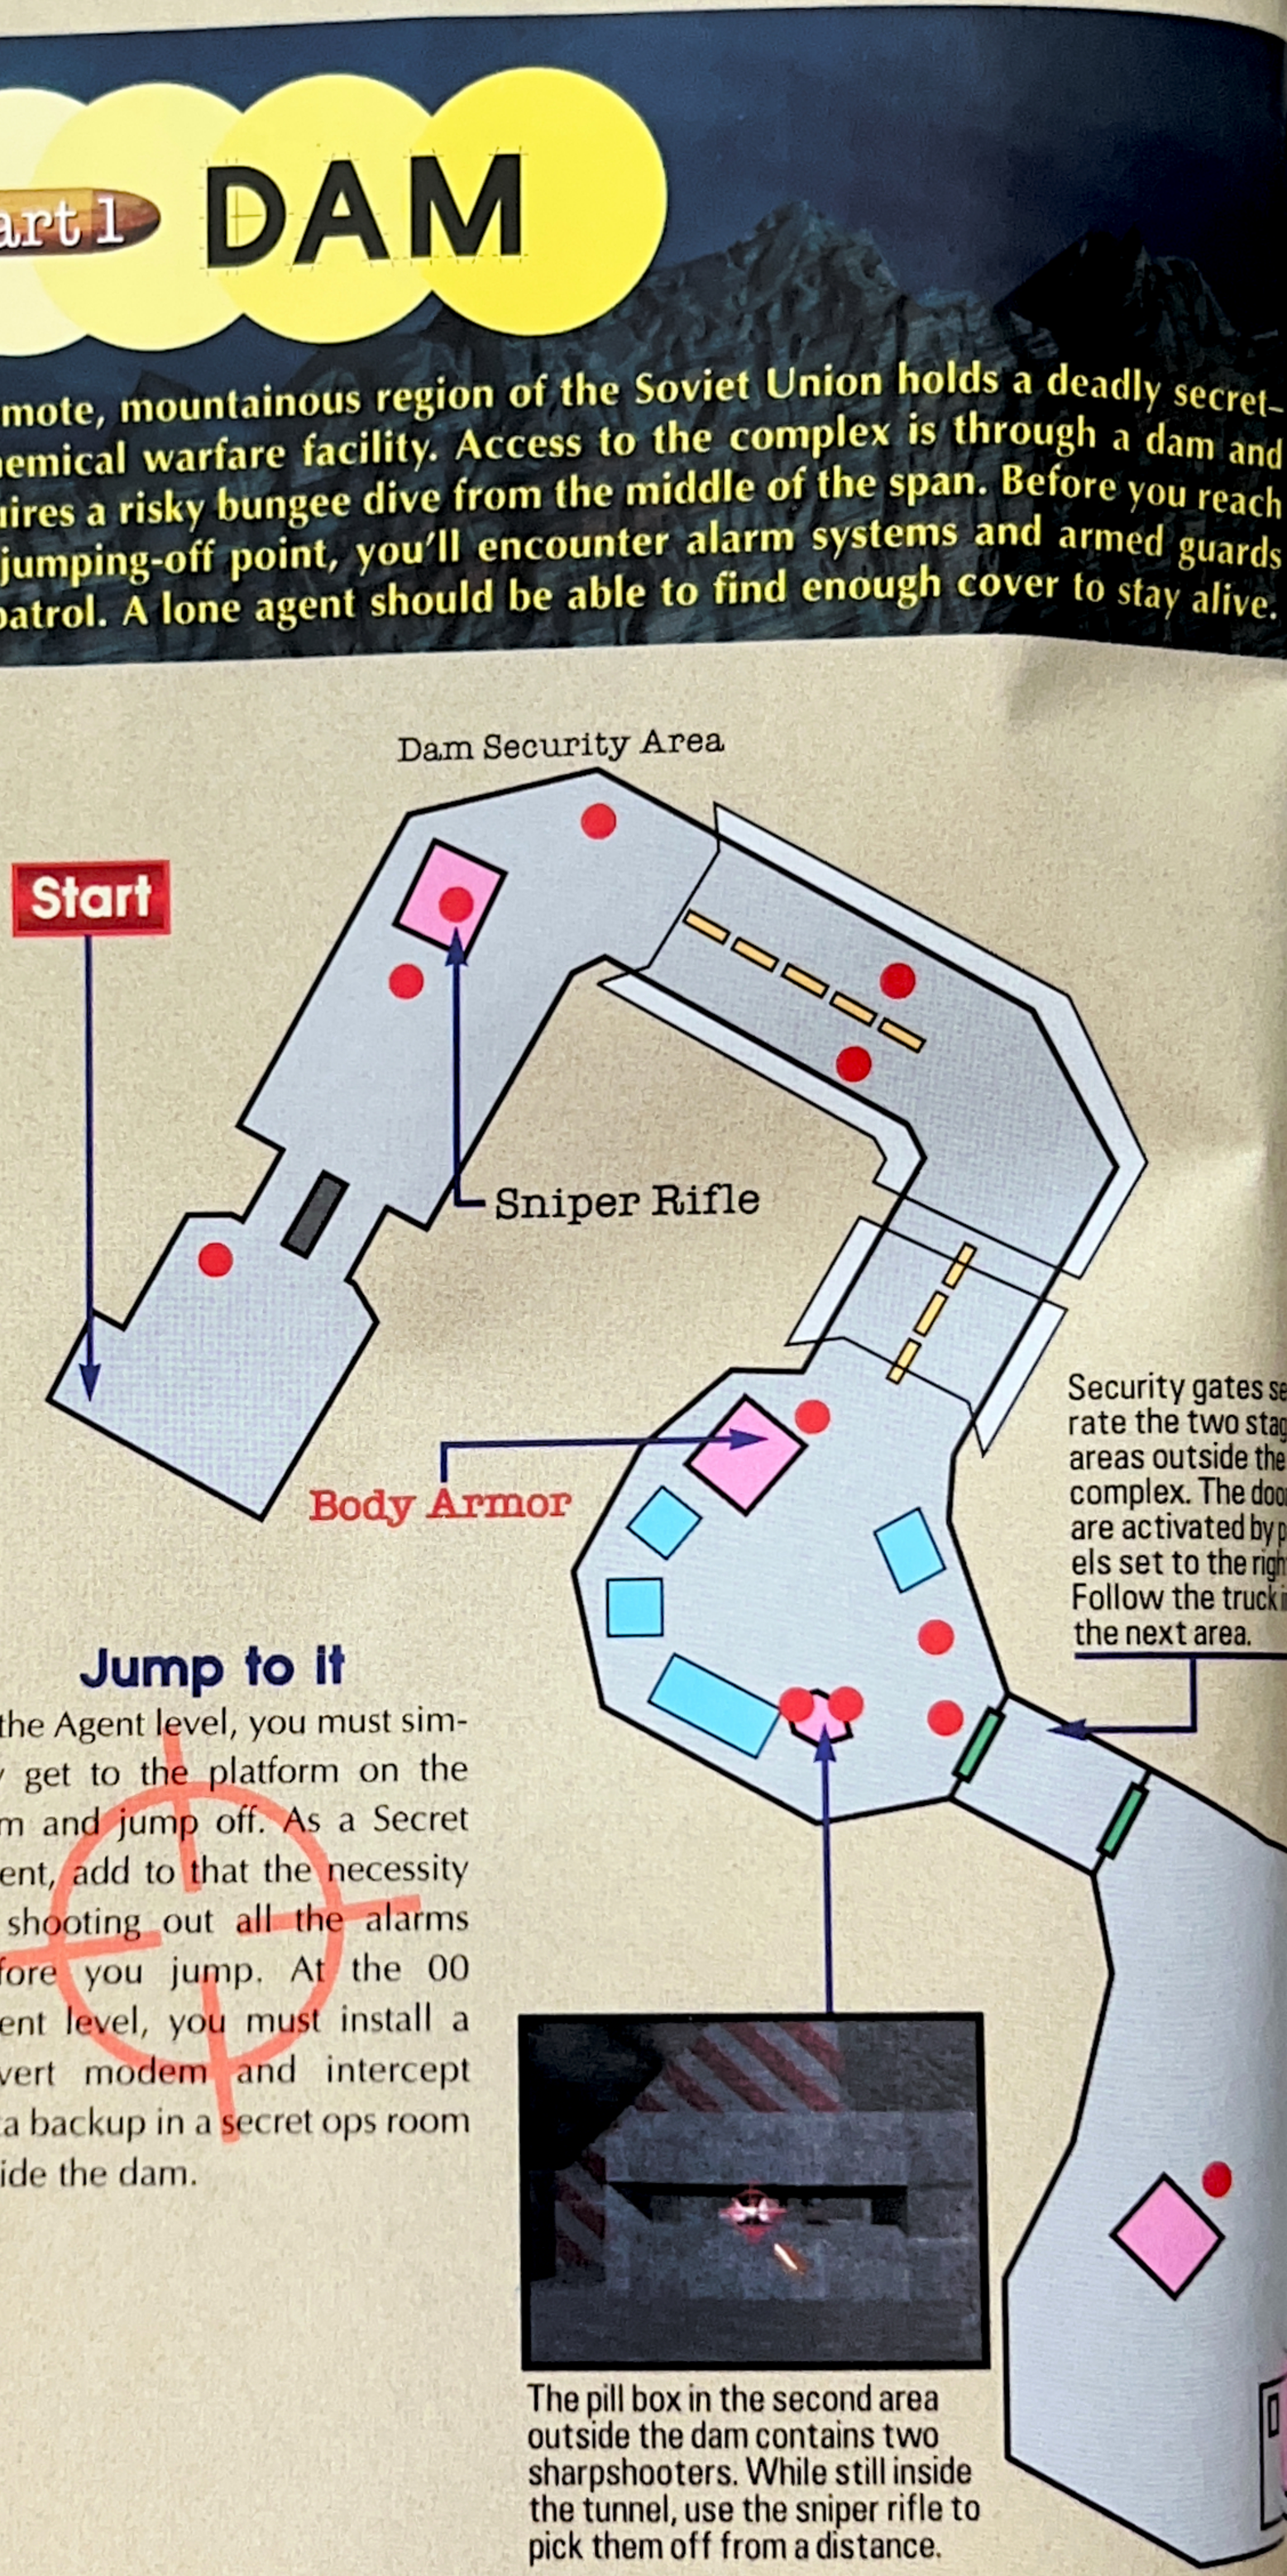
Mission 1 Arkangelsk

Part 1 DAM

A remote, mountainous region of the Soviet Union holds a deadly secret– a chemical warfare facility. Access to the complex is through a dam and requires a risky bungee dive from the middle of the span. Before you reach the jumping-off point, you'll encounter alarm systems and armed guards on patrol. A lone agent should be able to find enough cover to stay alive.

BRIEFING

The nerve gas from the secret facility at Byelomorye dam has turned up in the hands of hostile regimes and terrorists. The facility is well-defended, but one or two agents might get inside. Q suggests that you use a bungee rope to jump down the face of the dam to reach the facility. Your secondary objective is to tap into their communications link with a covert modem and return with a backup of their data. Inside the facility, you'll meet with an operative, then link up with 006 and destroy the chemicals. Do try to be on time, 007.



Jump to it

In the Agent level, you must simply get to the platform on the dam and jump off. As a Secret Agent, add to that the necessity of shooting out all the alarms before you jump. At the 00 Agent level, you must install a covert modem and intercept data backup in a secret ops room inside the dam.

The pill box in the second area outside the dam contains two sharpshooters. While still inside the tunnel, use the sniper rifle to pick them off from a distance.

DAM OBJECTIVES

Agent | Secret Agent | 00 Agent

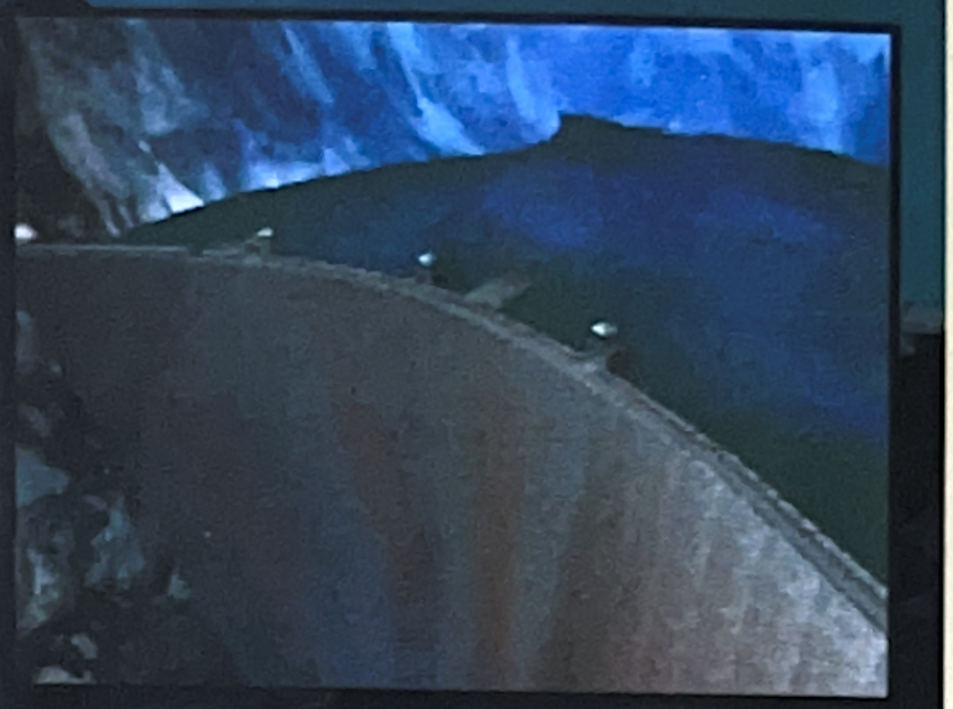
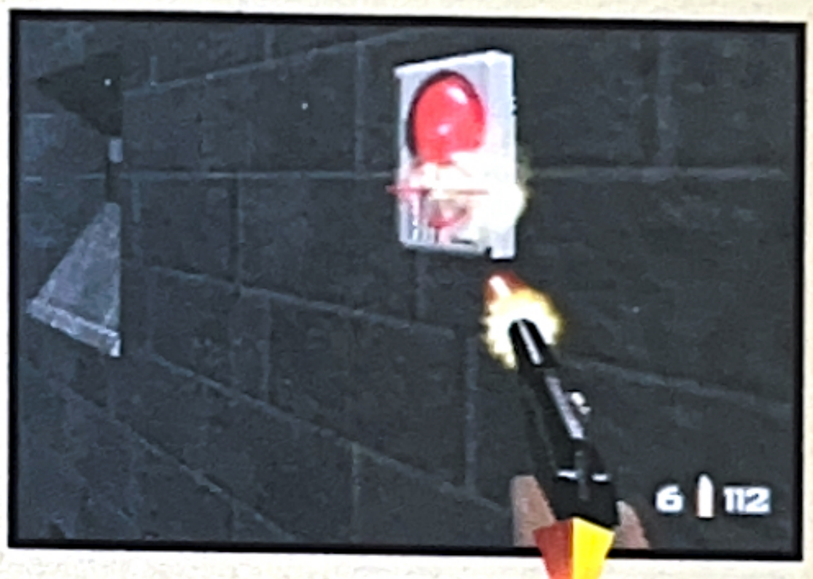
1. Neutralize All Alarms
2. Install Covert Modem
3. Intercept Data Backup (Page 21)
4. Bungee Jump from the Platform (Page 20)



1 NEUTRALIZE ALL ALARMS

Alarms are located in the guard house outside the dam and in the guard towers on the dam itself. If you fail to destroy each of these alarms, someone will alert security and your mission will be doomed to failure. Shoot the alarms to silence them. In the case of the guard house shown on the map below, you must make sure that you destroy the alarm before a guard reaches it.



Destroy the alarms by shooting the red bell. Use the crosshair to aim at the alarm and reduce wasted shots.

Take It Easy, 007

Agent

On Agent level, you'll find Body Armor on the top floor of the second guard tower, just beyond the tunnel. But don't expect to find this helpful item when you're going through the dam as a Secret Agent or 00 Agent. Even with the Body Armor, you're not invincible.

2 INSTALL COVERT MODEM

In order to intercept communications from the facility, you must install the covert modem. Select the modem from your inventory, aim at the communications panel on the outside of the guard house, and use the Z Button to attach the modem.

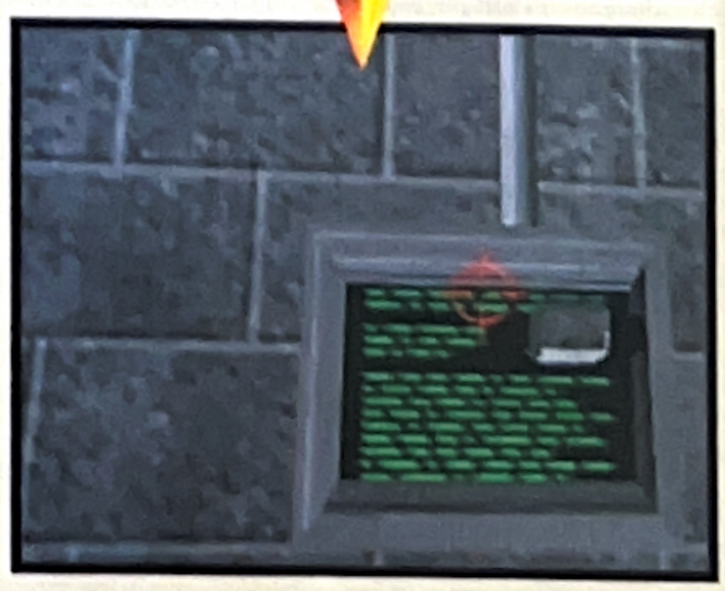
When you don't have the key to a lock, sometimes you can open it with a well-placed round from your gun. Don't worry about making noise.

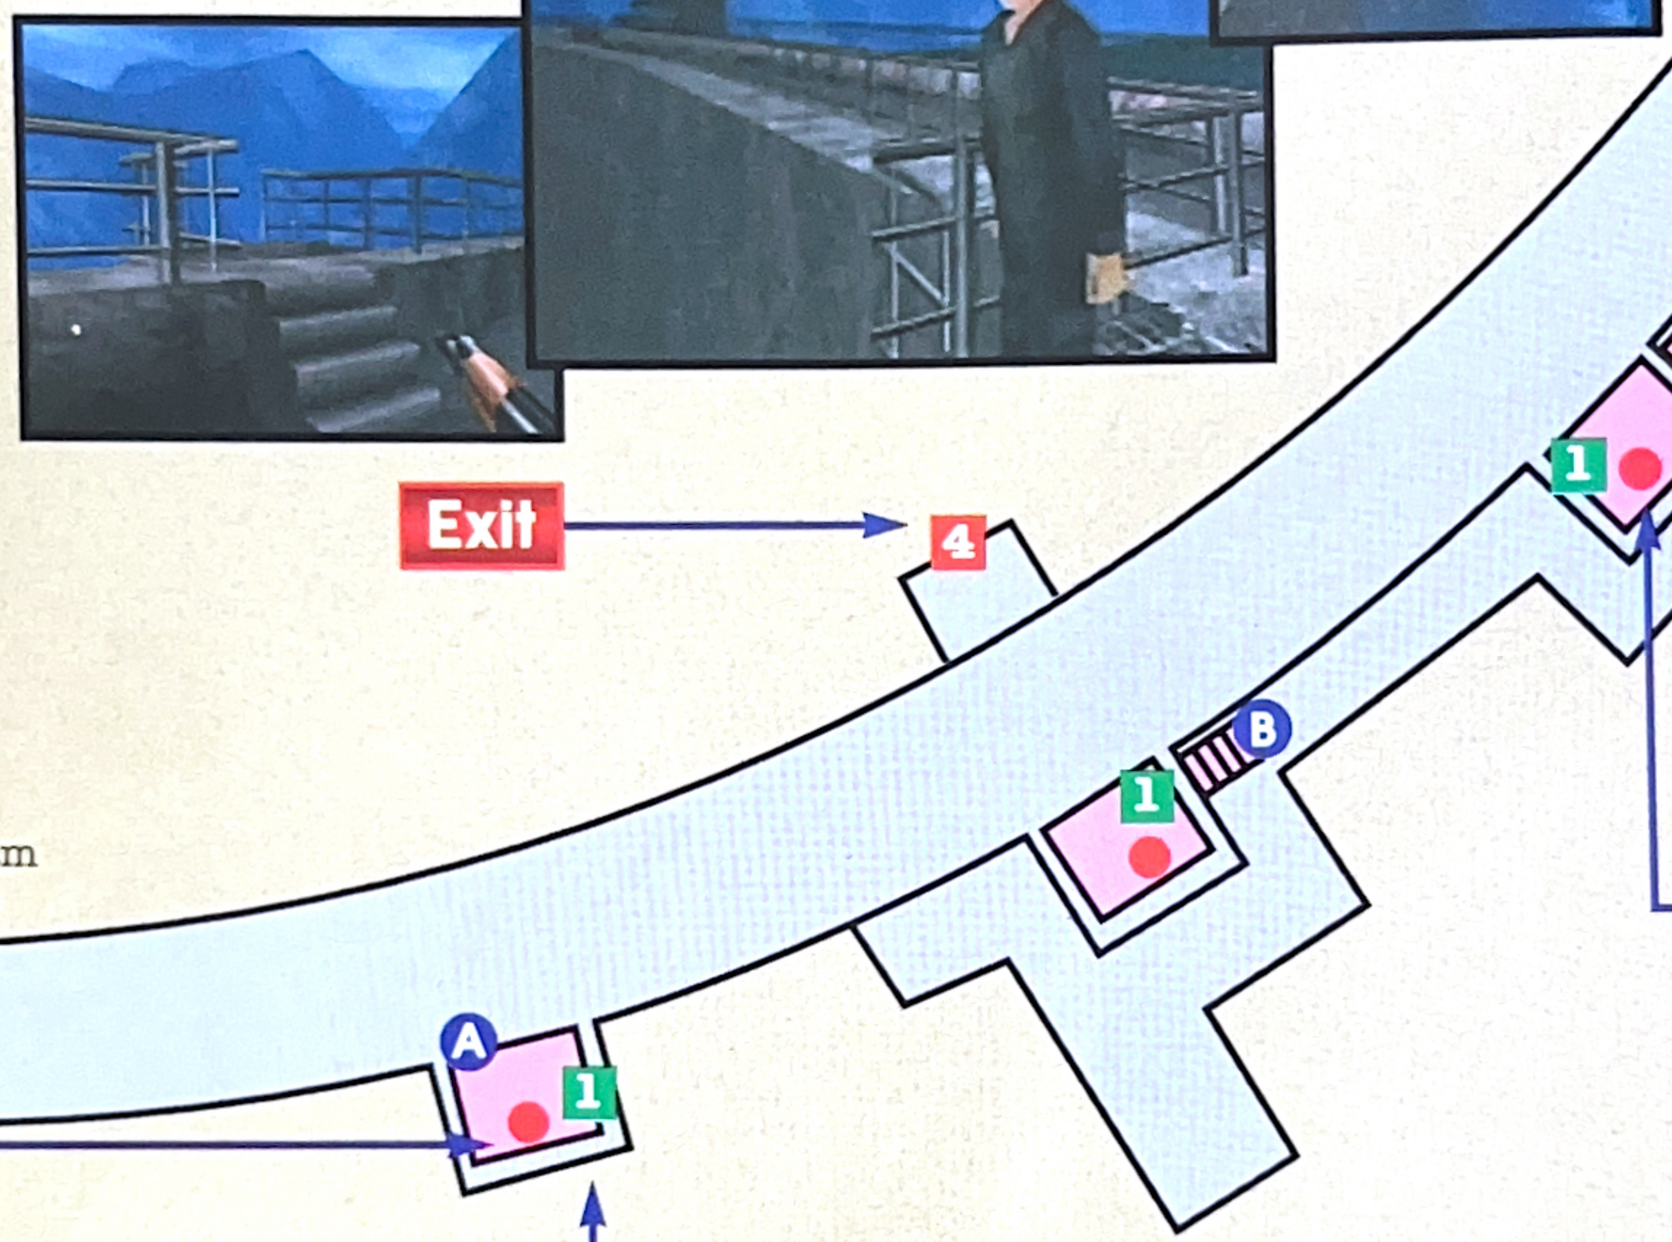


Take the Plunge

By far the toughest part of this assignment on 00 Agent level is the interior of the dam as you work your way toward the secret ops room. In the narrow corridor, you are an easy target for the sharp-shooting guards. The best strategy is to take advantage of angled areas where you can sidestep into the corridor, pop off a few shots, then step back to safety.

4 BUNGEE JUMP FROM THE PLATFORM

Surprisingly, the actual jump off the dam is easy. You simply step onto the platform and move to the open edge. Getting there is tougher. Each of the towers along the dam holds an armed guard. Use the sniper rifle to take them out at a distance. On 00 Agent level, you'll have to go to the ops room before returning to the top of the dam to jump.



Top of the Dam

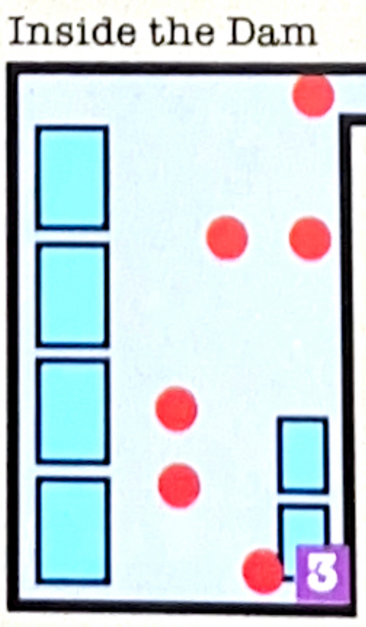
After removing the guard from his post, enter the door at the base of the guard tower to find the alarm inside. You'll find it mounted on the wall. Save your rifle ammo for the corridor below.

Use the sniper rifle to pick off the guard in the first tower. Since the guards won't see you until you're close by, you can close in until you have an excellent view through the zoom lens.

Inside the Dam



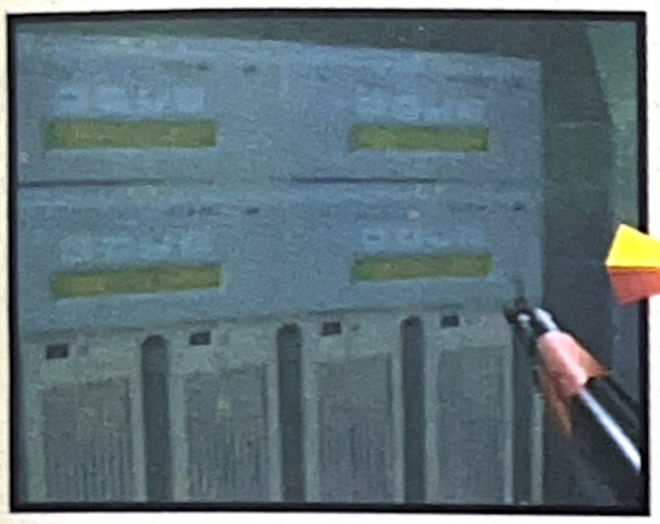
At the 00 Agent level, the 21 guards inside the dam won't take long to notice you and start shooting. Use the sidestep move to stay in cover as often as possible, but don't crouch behind the wooden boxes. If you use stairway A, be prepared to meet guards from both directions.

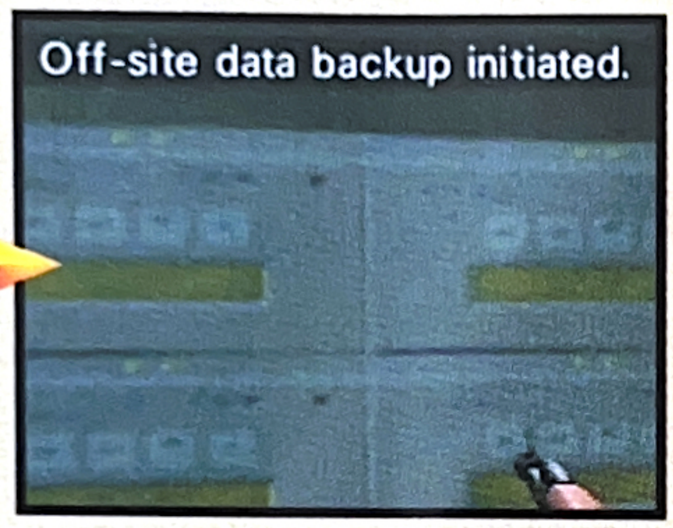
Weapons Underground

Your choice of weapon in the crowded corridor of the dam's interior may make or break this mission. You'll get the greatest advantage from the sniper rifle. Not only can you zoom in, hitting your targets before they even know you're there, but the bullets have effective penetration. When you reach the ops room, switch to the KF7 for all of the close range work.

3 INTERCEPT THE DATA BACKUP

Intercepting the data in the secret ops room in the dam is simply a matter of reaching the mainframe computer and waiting about seven seconds for the data to download. Cleaning out the guards along the way isn't quite so easy. Make sure that you pick up every piece of ammo along the way. You'll need all the rounds you can get.





Q BRANCH

Try to pay attention, 007. The covert modem attaches to the communications panel outside the guard-house before you reach the dam. But to download the backup data, you'll have to go inside the dam to the secret ops room and activate the backup sequence. The modem must be placed on the panel, not on the wall or anywhere else. Try not to muck it up.

The guards in the corridor often wait behind angles in the walls. When you see a slight bend or a widening of the corridor ahead, turn sideways and use the left or right C Button to sidestep. In this way, you'll pop out facing the enemy and be able to blast them before they can respond.
